Old Chicago Will Do
"No Bunk," Says Dawes

Current Events

A SIGNALMAN, Willis Pinkston, on board the United States fighting ship Richmond, was high up on the steel tower in the night. It was his business to see everything and, attending to business, he reported a faint glimmer of light far away. The ship, changing her course, picked up the plucky Italian flier, Locatelli. It was his "flare" that signalled Pinkston.

PINKSTON has been publicly commended by Captain Cotten of the Richmond and that is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough. This writer will contribute $100 to start a fund that would express more substantially public appreciation of Signalman Pinkston's good eyesight. Many Americans of Italian blood and others might like to contribute to such a fund. Perhaps the Italian language newspapers will promote it, and the Italian Embassy receive contributions. Much money would be needed to represent the value of a life such as that of the brave Italian flier.

DR. MELAMMED, in Chicago, says the Jewish committee of the Zionist movement will build in Palestine a city to be named Chicago, and built in five years.

An interesting enterprise, it will be welcomed by many unable to come to the United States. An imitation of Chicago is better than no Chicago.

But fortunately a great majority of America's able, constructive Jewish citizenship will prefer, to any other, the real, original Chicago, that will stretch one day from Gary to Milwaukee —quite probably with Milwaukee as the center—connected by water with all the oceans, and with Palestine by flying machine. The advertisement will read, "hourly trips to Jerusalem on the hour. Land there tonight, back to Chicago next day."

GENERAL DAWES yesterday celebrated his fifty-ninth birthday. We moderns call that "young," which shows that the human race is gaining intelligence. Not so long ago a man at fifty-nine was a "graybeard," and his joints were stiff, his feet dragged. A few generations back, one of the biggest cities in France did not have among all its inhabitants one man or woman as old as fifty-five. The "good old days" when "sewers" ran through open gutters, the cemeteries, with all their disease, were on the hills, and the wells in the valleys, life was not long. Fortunately, the people then drank little water, or they would all have died.

GENERAL DAWES will talk to farmers and says he will give them "a speech free of bunk."

The farmers will be grateful. You guess some of the things that General Dawes will NOT tell the farmers.

HE WON'T say to them "a government that guarantees a gas trust or railroad trust owned by very rich men at least 6 per cent. profit, might just as well guarantee the farmer 6 per cent. profit."

He won't say that, because that would be "bunk" and presumably the farmers couldn't stand it.

ANOTHER HORRIBLE disease springs up in the East, in Japan this time, worse than earthquakes. What it is nobody knows. Something like spinal meningitis has killed 900 in a few weeks. A hundred attacked sixty-five died. That is almost as bad as the black plague. Japanese scientists cannot identify the disease nor find its cause.

John D. Rockefeller has some of his millions at work, in the hands of able scientists in China and in Japan. He will help in this crisis and perhaps keep the disease from visiting us here, as the Spanish influenza came not from Spain, but from Asia.

THIS COLUMN too lightly compared Moses' forty-year trip across the desert with the four-hours trip of a small American automobile, and the one and one-half-hour trip of a flying machine across the same desert.

10 MISSING IN LOSS OF 2 VESSELS

Other Vessels Are Overdue at Halifax, and Several Are Disabled in Gale

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 28.—Caught off this coast by the hurricane that swept the North Atlantic Tuesday night, two coastwise schooners are missing and have been given up as lost.

It is believed the two skippers and eight sailors aboard them have been drowned.

Even heavier loss of life is indicated by the amount of wreckage drifting up on the shore, but none of the debris has been identified as part of any ship sailing from this port.

The schooner Prince Edward Island, last heard of, was pounding to pieces on the rocks at Kitty Witty Shoals, twenty miles west of here.

WRECKAGE PICKED UP.

Pieces of her jolly boat have been picked up, so apparently the crew was unable to get her off. Captain Miller and his five sailors have not been heard from.

The schooner Julia F. C., with Captain Devon and a crew of three, was last reported dragging anchor thirteen miles from Bird Island, after being dismantled by the storm.

Her jib was torn away, her mainsail gone at the heads and her cabin smashed. Captain Anderson of the fishing smack Karine 2nd was the last to sight her. The seas were so heavy that he was unable to assist her. He sounded his horn, he said, but got no answering hail from the crippled schooner.

Portions of the schooner Anna MacDonald have been washed

"Shoot to Kill" Is Butler's Order to Police

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Eighty detectives with shoot-to-kill orders issued by Brigadier-General Butler, director of public safety, cruised about the city early today in bandit-chasing automobiles in a new pre-Autumn drive on suspicious characters.

"Go out and shoot everyone with a gun," he ordered his men as they started out. "Anyone that threatens you with a gun, kill him. Get those boys before they get you."

NEIGHBORS SEE THIEVES TAKE $2000 LOOT

Four automobile bandits drove up to a house at No. 18 Bolton street, Waltham, today, in full view of neighbors, and ransacked the place, carrying away over $2,000 worth of loot.

The robbers entered by forcing a rear window. The house is occupied by two families, both of whom were out at the time.

Neighbors saw the men enter the house, but, not being suspicious, they did not take the number of the car. The police have no clews except finger prints left by the men.

The house is occupied by the families of Joseph Falzoni on the street floor and Joseph Murella on the second floor. Both men are out on strike at the Waltham Watch Company.

Falzoni reported to the police the loss of $550 worth of Postal Savings stamps, one lady's watch and most of his silverware.

Murella reported the loss of a diamond ring valued at $500, three other valuable rings, three gold pendants, one lady's watch, two gold bracelets and other property.

Band of Gem Robbers Homes Guarded Against

Scores of "private guards have been engaged by wealthy Summer residents of the North and South Shores and Cape Cod, following the operations of a band of international jewel thieves who have stolen gems worth more than $150,000 from Cape Cod mansions and other shore resorts.

The largest haul was at the Summer estate of E. C. Crossett, New York lumber dealer, at Wianno, on the Cape. Jewels worth $100,000 were taken from the bedrooms of the home late at night.

At the home of Mrs. W. Murray Crane, widow of the late United States Senator, gems worth $5,000 were secured in the same manner.

9 TANKS OF GASOLINE WRECKED

100,000 Gallons Spilled When Freight Spreads Rails at West Bridgewater

West Bridgewater, Aug. 28.—Nine cars of a Boston-bound freight train were wrecked here today when they turned over a few yards from the Cochesett Station.

They were tank and freight cars. One hundred thousand gallons of gasoline was lost when the tanks were smashed.

A spreading rail was responsible for the accident, according to railroad officials.

The train was traveling at a fairly high rate of speed, Cochesett station not being a stopping point.

The locomotive and the first five cars of the fourteen-car train got safely over the spreading rail. The sixth car dragged and went over in the ditch on its side, dragging the cars behind after it.

The box cars were demolished, the tankers faring better, but their cargo being lost.

ROW OVER PSYCHIC TESTS

One of Board Probing Power of "Margery" Quits After Charge by Houdini

Following accusations and counter accusations among members of the Scientific American's investigating committee, which has been conducting fraud-proof tests into the spirit phenomena produced by Mrs. LeRoi G. Crandon, wife of a Boston surgeon, who lives at No. 10 Lime street, J. Malcolm Bird, secretary of the committee, has tendered his resignation.

This exclusive information was furnished the Boston American today.

The resignation of Bird, which has thrown the committee into an uproar, followed accusations made against the scientific editor by Harry Houdini the magician, who came to Boston with an inch-thick oak box with which he attempted to disprove the genuineness of the manifestations produced by Mrs. Crandon.

The Houdini box, which did not meet with the approval of the committee, will be no criterion of the ability of Mrs. Crandon, a member of the committee told the Boston American today.

TESTS STILL ON.

"Furthermore," says a member of the committee, "the investigation is still on despite contrary reports and no final decision has yet been made."

Mrs. Crandon said to the Boston American today: "It is true that Mr. Bird has resigned and that there is discussion among members of the investigating committee."

The sitting following, which it had been reported that Mrs. Crandon had "failed" as a perfect medium, was held at the Charlesgate Hotel, and was an attempt, unauthorized by the entire committee, to put Houdini's box into practice.

Dr. Hereward Carrington, independent psychic research investigator of Harvard University; Dr. William McDougall, and Dr. A. A. Roback of the department of psychology at Harvard, were absent from the sitting.

Dr. J. Malcolm Bird, in a statement to the Boston American today, admitted that his resignation followed disagreement with other members of the committee.

SENDS RESIGNATION.

"I tendered my resignation in a perfectly friendly spirit to Mr. Minot, publisher of the Scientific American, because I believed my disconnection from the committee would enable me to pursue my inquiries into the matter with greater freedom.

"I shall continue to write the account of the seances in the Scientific American, but shall withhold further

EVIDENCE OF FIGHT FOR LIFE

Believe One Died Attempting to Prevent Suicide of Her Friend

Lying a yard apart in eight feet of water, the bodies of Pearl E. Meader, thirty-two year old school teacher, and seventeen year old Florence E. Paine, were recovered in Birch Brook Pond, in the Lynnhurst section of Saugus, today.

Evidence of a struggle led the authorities to believe that Miss Meader successfully repeated a previous attempt to commit suicide, and the younger girl was drowned trying to save her.

The bodies were found by John Meader, an uncle of Miss Meader, who with his nephew, Roland Foster, had dragged the waters of the pond all night.

They were twenty-five feet from the shore, evidently having having been carried that distance by the struggles of the older woman to do away with herself.

FOUND FOOTPRINTS.

Miss Meader, who was recently released from an institution where she had gone suffering from a nervous breakdown, had been a school teacher in Connecticut. With Florence Paine, employed as a clerk at the Lynn Public Library, she lived at No. 17 "B" St. Stephen's court, Lynn. Both were guests of Mr. Meader at his camp near the pond.

BODIES OF TWO LYNN GIRLS ARE FOUND IN POND BY SEARCHERS

the two women left the camp, and apparently made straight for the pond. Other members of the party failed to notice their disappearance for some time, but when they failed to answer the names Peine were recalled, Captain John T. Keane and three policemen started a search for him at the edge of the pond, and found campers who had seen the two women walking hand in hand.

From the disheveled condition of the women's clothing when the bodies were found, it was evident they had engaged in a severe struggle. The authorities believe Miss Meader rushed into the water with the intention of drowning herself, while her companion fought to drag her back to land.

SAVED ONCE BEFORE.

The older woman, apparently pushed into deeper water, and Miss Paine still struggling, was dragged under her, and when the other went under, herself collapsed.

A week ago, according to the police, Miss Meader attempted suicide in the same way at the same place, but was rescued by friends.

It was learned yesterday that Mrs. Eleonore Paine, mother of Florence, cautioned her daughter to watch the other woman, as she was acting in a peculiar manner.

Miss Meader was a teacher in the high school at Torrington, Ct., and for some years has taken special courses during the Summer at Simmons College.

Miss Paine was about to conclude her connection with the Lynn Public Library, in order that she might enter Lynn Hospital as a student nurse.

EDWARDS FOR JACKSON; HITS AT FULLER

Party Can't Afford to Risk It-self With a Mediocre Man, Says General

Declaring that the G. O. P. cannot afford to nominate a "mediocre" man, Clarence H. Edwards today came out for State Treasurer James Jackson in preference to Lieut.-Gov. Alvan T. Fuller for Governor.

Edwards' choice is indicated in a letter to Charles A. Stevens of Lowell, a former 26th Division officer.

When worthily bestowed," the man who up to a few days ago was state commander of the American Legion wrote, "the Republican nomination for Governor is well nigh the equivalent to an election in Massachusetts. Therefore, we, as Republicans cannot afford to nominate a mediocrity as our candidate for governor."

The general lauded Jackson as a man of the highest personal integrity and alluded to his "wonderful work" during the war as the New England director of the Red Cross.

Republicans can best endorse the administration of Governor Cox, he said, by nominating as his successor "that one among the officials of his administration upon whom he has leaned most heavily for advice and counsel, constant sympathy and active assistance."

$2,000; $1,000 and $500 Prizes for Three Best Plays

New York, Aug. 28.—John Golden, theatrical producer, tonight announced a national prize play contest which will open September 1. Three manuscripts will be chosen and prizes of $2,000, $1,000 and $500, will be awarded.

Golden has asked dramatic critics in 126 cities to take charge of the contest and they will act as judges. The contest closes December 31.

Contestants must be Americans, and tragedies, musical comedies and plays of a salacious nature are barred.

SLAYERS' CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Judge to Announce Decision on Leopold and Loeb on September 10

Chicago, Aug. 28. (A.P.)—Judge Caverly took the Franks kidnaping and murder case, in which Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb pleaded guilty, under advisement today.

The court announced he would give his decision—fixing the penalty for the double crime, on September 10, at 9:30 a. m.

Note will be admitting as court that day, the court ruled, save defendants, attorneys, court attaches and newspaper men.

"The closing remarks of the State's Attorney in this case were a cowardly and dastardly attack on the integrity of this court and will be stricken from the records," said Judge Caverly.

STOPS PROTEST.

Judge Caverly stopped protest by the State's Attorney and said the prosecutor had tried to intimidate the court, knowing well that what he had said would be broadcast throughout the land.

"The court has no other recourse than to do as it has done," he said. "The State's Attorney knew that he would have no chance to reply."

The court then started to read a prepared statement. In it he defended his court from criticisms of the proceedings.

"Some of these criticisms came of those who knew no better and some have been from those who should know better," he said.

Citing a book on criminology by Mr. Darrow, the prosecutor stated that "this authority tells us that the criminal ages are between seventeen and twenty-four and, your honor, how in the name of logic can it be argued, if the criminal age is at wouth, that youth is a defense?"

"Recognizing that the age of murderers is between seventeen and twenty-four, with the average at close to twenty-two, are we going to tell the world of the new law written into the statutes of Illinois by Clarence Darrow nad approved by the chief justice of the criminal court of Cook County this youth is a defence? That youth is a mitigating circumstance?"

QUOTES.

"Shall we do this, your honor? Or shall we send out the word that the laws of Illinois shall be enforced?

"These two brilliant young law students believed they had a right to take the life of young Bobby Franks at fourteen, if the court please," Mr. Crowe houted.

Mr. Crowe cited another case of a Chicago boy sentenced to death at nineteen, and then read excerpts from a speech once delivered by Clarence Darrow before the prisoners of the Cook County Jail.

The quotations set forth the view of the senior defense counsel that "there is little moral difference between those in here and those outside."

"The real defense here is Clarence Darrow's dangerous philosophy of life," he said. "It would probably have been less dangerous to this community if this crime had not been disclosed.

ASSAILS DARROW.

"Society can endure even though criminals escape. But if your honor puts the seal of approval of this court upon this doctrine, we contend that a greater damage shall have been visited upon our institutions and our laws than a hundred, yea, a thousand more grievous crimes."

Mr. Crowe touched upon the "friendly judge" testimony, declaring that "if Leopold did not say that, as was testified by the officer on the stand, then, your honor, his actions in this court demonstrate it."

The court asked the stenographers to give him a special copy of Mr. Crowe's statement on this phase.

Mr. Crowe concluded his argument with a short whispered plea for the death penalty.

The court then called the second case against the youths, the kidnaping charge. Jacob Franks, the victim's father, was sworn as the first witness.

U. S. BEGINS MINTING COINS FOR POLAND

Washington, Aug. 28.—The U. S. today commenced the coinage of the first coins ever turned out for a foreign nation. Forty-eight million silver "Zlotos" are to be made in the Philadelphia mint for the Polish government, following the approval of a sample "Zloty" submitted yesterday by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Winston to Leon Orlowski of the Polish Legation here.

The 5,700,000 ounces of silver bullion for the manufacture of the coins was purchased from American smelters at a price of 68 cents an ounce. The 48,000,000 coins ordered from the Philadelphia mint will be worth about $9,600,000 in American dollars.

COUPLE FAIL TO GET LICENSE; QUIT PROVIDENCE IN RUSH

Discarding the costly automobile in which they began their elopement, eighteen-year-old Louise Brown of Swampscott and Alexander Grant, twenty-two-year-old traveling salesman, have continued their journey by train, it was learned today.

It is believed the couple are bound for Baltimore, the headquarters of Grant's employers, and the police of that city have been notified.

Chief of Police William Quinn of Swampscott found the discarded automobile, which, as it happens, is the property of the girl's father, in a Providence garage. He was accompanied by Miss Brown's brother William.

TRIED TO GET LICENSE.

He also learned the couple had been unsuccessful in obtaining a license to wed in that city, because of Miss Brown's youthful appearance.

Undeterred by these setbacks, the modern Lochinvar sweet his chosen one aboard a train and they departed for the South.

George A. Brown, the irate parent, who is a prominent fabric manufacturer, declared he would spare no expense in preventing the marriage and bringing his daughter home.

FATHER TO KEEP UP CHASE.

"Anybody who would do a thing such as this fellow has done is no good," said he. "Under no circumstances will I allow him to marry my daughter.

"I have nothing against the fellow personally, but his actions in this matter are anything but those of a gentleman. I will locate my daughter and bring her back to Swampscott, if it takes months."

Grant, a nice young man, according to young Miss Brown's father, approach at the Swampscott home of the shoe manufacturer in time to go riding with the daughter. The next thing the father knew he received a telegram from Providence.

"To be married. Break the news to mother," was the laconic message.

AUTO THEFT CHARGED.

Brown broke the news to the police, instead. Several hours later the police learned the couple had been refused a marriage license at Providence on account of the girl's age and had immediately left in the car for parts unknown. Then the general alarm was wired to the police but it is believed the couple made their way successfully to some city where a marriage license was more easily obtainable.

The father told the police that while Grant was a nice enough young man, he didn't want his daughter to marry the salesman and had warned her not to let her feelings for the young man run too deep. He swore out a warrant charging both with theft of his auto.

PRINCE BEATEN IN PILLOW BATTLE

S. S. Berengaria, Aug. 28 (A.P.)—Notwithstanding a strenuous day of sport, in which he emerged from three events on the losing end, the Prince of Wales again was among the persistent dancers aboard the Berengaria. He also attended the ship's concert.

After losing to the American collegians in the tug-of-war and also failing in the potato race, the Prince took part in the pillow fighting, his opponent being L. E. Bull, a graduate of Harvard.

They exchanged spirited blows amid great hilarity, and it looked for a time as though Wales would emerge the winner, but the American finally put him out. The Prince accepted his defeat smilingly, as he did in the other events.

Lord Louis Mountbatten also fell before an American in the pillow fight.

This morning His Royal Highness held an investiture, presenting First Officer Walter H. Poole with a reserve decoration for his long service in the British Naval Reserve.

Having a swim without being pestered is hard. According to the instructor at the pool, Wales tries to time his swims so that he will not be overwhelmed by admiring young women. Whenever he goes to the pool, according to the instructor, he always asks when the women are due to arrive, and as soon as they come he dashes off to his quarters.

Many of the women passengers are still hoping that the Prince will dance with some of the other American girls on board, but thus far Miss Leonora Cahill of St. Louis is the only one to have the distinction of appearing on the dance floor with him.

At the White House luncheon, described as "very informal," only the members of the Coolidge family and a few officials from the British embassy will be present.

The prince will leave Washington about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon returning to Glen Cove on a special train.

FORE RIVER DREDGING MAY START THIS FALL

Army engineers at the Custom House today announced that bids for the dredging of the Weymouth Fore River ship channel would be opened September 16. The present channel with a width of 200 feet, is to be made 300 feet wide.

This improvement was long advocated by the Boston Maritime Association. It will facilitate shipping to Weymouth and Quincy Point, and will be especially advantageous to the Fore River ship yard, the new Edison power plant and adjoining docks.

Gun Booms for Son of Smith Instead of Governor

Peekskill, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Alfred E. Smith, Jr., was mistaken for his father, the Governor, and his entrance into the State militia camp was marked by the firing of the Governor's salute of nineteen guns, and the raising of the Chief Executive's flag.

The mistake occurred when lookouts on the watch for Gov. Smith, expected by the ceremonies attendant on Governor's Day, signalled for the military honors.

When the Governor arrived in another automobile a half hour later, the salute and flag raising were repeated.

Reggie Vanderbilts Giving Costume Ball Saturday

By BETTY ALDEN.

CONSIDERABLE interest is being evinced in the fancy costume ball which Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt are giving Saturday at "Sandy Point," Newport.

The affair will wind-up with fitting pomp and splendor the various functions centering about the Newport horse show, which opens today and continues through Saturday.

For the first time the master of "Sandy Point Farm" is president of the show, with young William H. Vanderbilt acting as secretary and treasurer.

This equine classic never fails to attract a colorful throng of smartly-gowned women and their escorts. Tats rear, the usual brilliant throng will be on hand when the first pink-coated thoroughbred prances into the judging ring.

A few of the Vanderbilts include Mrs. Hobart Smith, 2nd, and Admiral and Mrs. Cameron McR. Winslow of Boston, as well as Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, Mrs. Winthrop Boardman, Miss Martha Codman, Mrs. Elisha Dyer, Mrs. Robert Grosvenor, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, and the William Woodwards, all of whom have Boston connections.

As for the costume party being staged on Saturday by Reggy Vanderbilt and his youthful wife, this promises to be one of the jolliest functions of an unusually brilliant season at the Queen Resort.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was formerly Miss Gloria Morgan, is quite exotic-looking, and all eyes seem to register interest when she makes her appearance at this or that affair.

CARLOTTA HAVEMEYER
One of Newport's prominent belles, who took part in a recent golf tournament at Newport, in which Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer also was of the contestants.

APROPOS of the famous Rhode Island spa—one of the most charming belles is Miss Carlotta Havemeyer, daughter of the Henry O. Havemeyers of Gotham.

Besides being pretty, Miss Havemeyer is devoted to tennis and golf. She participated in the tombstone tournament played the other day at the Newport Country Club. Mrs. Richard Gambrill offered the prizes which were awarded to Miss Florence Lees and James P. Gowen.

Also taking part in this tournament was Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer of Boston, who seems quite as adept at sending the little white "pill" bounding over the greensward as she is at solving the weightiest immigration problems.

NOT a few Shore folk are attending the dances which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter are giving tomorrow evening at "Edgewater House," their Beverly Farms summer home.

The dance is in honor of the Leiter large party of house-guests visiting the Leiters, whose Winter home is in Washington. Mrs. Leiter, it will be remembered, was presented to the British court this Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abbott of "Glass Head," West Manchester, are giving a small dinner tomorrow evening, later taking their guests on to the dance at "Edgewater House."

GOODWIN BANS BATHING GIRLS ON AUTOS

Must Be Removed or Operators and Number Plates Will Be, He Says

Branding the pasting of bathing girls on windshields and rear windows of automobiles as "ridiculous nonsense," Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin has decreed this "damn grotesque practice must stop."

"When these mermaids first appeared," he declared, "they were thin and syphilitic, but the enterprising manufacturers, realizing that some operators like them thin others would prefer them plump, introduced a new strip and the fair bathers are increasing in size so that there is every reason to believe that some of these beauties will soon cover the whole windshield.

"If these things are not removed from automobiles at once," he says "operators and number plates will go.

"In addition to obscuring the vision," he said, "it is fair to assume that any operator who is so much interested in this school of art as to paste a bathing girl on the windshield of his car is very likely to be so absorbed in curves and contours just as soon as some child rides into the road, that the inevitable crash will occur."

NEW ENGLAND WEEK WORK BOOMING

Broad Scope of Industrial Revival Revealed in Chairman's Report

The great scope of the New England Week movement, which will come to a climax during the week of Sept. 15-20, is shown in a general report made to the New England Week committee by John S. Lawrence, the chairman.

The report says, in part:

"Over 4,000 car cards featuring New England Week are now on display in the street cars.

"A poster has been designed and is being distributed this week.

"Over a million stickers have been ordered and have just begun to be used.

"Over 200,000 blotters carrying the message of New England Week have already been printed, and are in process of distribution by public utilities corporations, banks, etc.

"Quantities of tags bearing New England Week have been printed, and are being distributed to the manufacturers and stores.

BOOKLETS SENT OUT.

"Booklets describing New England Week have been sent to all Chambers of Commerce, local committees, and many individuals.

"The colors of pine tree green and oak leaf red are being generally used for decoration.

"Our daily mail at headquarters exceeds the capacity of our organization to handle, and we have three weeks more to go.

"A special 'N.E.W.' worker button is now ready with pledge cards. These will be worn by over 100,000 people who have pledged to wear the button and boost New England.

"Many stories of New England Week have appeared in the women's columns of the newspapers and every women's club is distributing a button for the women to wear, reading 'Show Me New England Goods.'

STORIES BROADCASTED.

"After an extensive slogan campaign in which more than 4,000 participated the slogan 'To know New England products is to want New England products,' was adopted. There is no community anywhere in the world but can appreciate a slogan of this kind.

"No publicity would be complete without radio. Stories relating to New England Week are being broadcasted. We enjoy the complete cooperation of all broadcasting stations throughout New England.

"We have reached every house organ in New England, with a total circulation of over one million, and as far as we know every organ has published a story of New England Week, and commented favorably upon it.

CHURCHES CO-OPERATE.

"Even the churches are co-operating. Sermons are being preached on courage, loyalty, optimism and co-operation, and urging parishioners to consciously say something nice, something complimentary, something constructive, at least once a day for the seven days of New England Week.

"The industrial mobilization has been particularly interesting. All steam and electric railroads have seen the importance of using this opportunity to acquaint the public with their importance in the industrial fabric of the community. Not only are they distributing at their stations and in their cars posters and literature, but they are preparing special articles regarding their problems and public relations, which are being distributed to their patrons.

"Every active New England manufacturing has taken advantage of this opportunity to stimulate distribution. They have arranged special window displays, and located handiwork on display and for sale products of their own work, and some of them so that their employees in the nearby retail stores. Many throughout are to improve their work."

HEROIC PRIESTS LOSE LIVES IN BIG STORM

Caught In Hole Washed in Beach, Drown Before Aid Arrives

The gale which swept the New England coast on Tuesday was directly responsible for the death of two young Boston priests, drowned while bathing in the surf at Brant Rock.

The victims were the Rev. Thomas F. Keahane, twenty-nine years old, chaplain at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, and the Rev. William J. Chittick, thirty, a chaplain of the Bethany Convent, Framingham.

Fr. Keahane died as he was in a vain effort to save his brother clergyman, while Grace Callahan, aged seventeen, and her sister, Mary, aged eighteen, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Callahan, who was swimming with the priests, narrowly escaped drowning. The younger girl reaching the beach exhausted, returned to the surf in an old boat in an effort to save the others.

DEEP HOLE IN BEACH.

Unknown to the bathers, the gale of Tuesday washed a deep hole in the beach where previously there had been a shallow, sandy bottom. It was in this hole the priests were trapped by the undertow and where they met their death. The bodies were recovered by the Brant Rock coast guard men and for more than an hour first aid treatment was applied without avail.

The two priests motored to the Callahan Summer home, Allerton, in the automobile of Judge Chittick, brother of Fr. Chittick, and the young men the Callahan girls. Both Callahan, aged twelve, and Fr. Chittick's brother made up a bathing party that entered the surf shortly afterwards.

Fr. Chittick had been ill recently, and had not fully recovered, while Fr. Keahane was not a strong swimmer and only after coaxing by other members of the party did they consent to go swimming.

The tide was out and there was an unusually strong undertow. The members of the party were swimming only a short distance from shore, in water waist deep, when a series of breakers swept over them, their feet and directly into the deep hole washed out by Tuesday's gale. In a moment they were shrieking in the swirling waters, held by the undertow.

LOCKED IN ARMS.

For a few moments the priests locked in one another's arms, battled the undertow together. Then they disappeared beneath the waters.

The bodies of the priests were removed to St. Annes Church, Dorchester, and later removed to Boston.

Fr. Chittick was born in Dorchester, Boston, the son of Fire Lieutenant Ernest E. and Mrs. Chittick. The remains of the priest will be taken to the Gate of Heaven school, South Boston, from the church he was ordained and graduated from Holyoke University, class of '23.

Thomas F. Keahane was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Keahane of 17 Leyland street, Dorchester. He was educated at the Dorchester High School, Boston College, class of '19, and spent five years at St. John's Seminary preparing for the priesthood.

MERIMACK BOY DROWNS, CAUGHT IN UNDERTOW

Star Island N. H., Aug. 28.—Heavy surf and strong undertow caused the death by drowning of Louis Pioul, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pioul of West Main street, Merrimac, Mass. The drowning occurred in sight of hundreds of vacationists.

Pioul, Ernest Hogan of Methuen, N. H., a class mate of Pioul, class of 1923, University of New Hampshire, and Henry Richardson, son of Manchester, came here on the yacht Wanda.

While Hobart stood on the rocks Pioul and Richardson waded out to fish. A heavy wave swept over and a second carried him out.

Richardson and Hobart raced for a rope, but were too late.

COAST GUARD UPSET ON VAIN ATTEMPT

Providence, Aug. 28.—A determined effort by the Point Judith coast guard service to rescue Louis Pioul, drowning victim of the Point Judith coast guard station, flying what the Coast Guard terms to be a "no-fish boat, which conveys a distress signal. Captain Noble and crew of Coast Guardsmen put out in the lifeboat at once.

They had only gone a short distance when, as the coast of a accident, the boat overturned, men swam ashore and managed to get the lifeboat ashore safely. When last seen the boat was bound North. It is believed the vessel was flying the flags because of needed assistance as a sign of distress she was in distress.

JAP LEADER SAYS U. S. DRIVES NIPPON AWAY

Williamstown, Aug. 28.—American policy in the last few years has been driving Japan toward Russia, Dr. Yusuki Tsurumi, Japanese democratic leader, asserted tonight in the third of his lectures before the Institute of Politics. Dr. Tsurumi's topic was "Labor in Japan."

Outlining the changing conditions in the labor movement and contrasting the agricultural classes with the industrial workers, he said that "if the public men of Japan do not make blunders, the peasants of Japan will be the mainstay of the future liberalism of Japan, counterbalancing the socialistic tendencies of the urban laborers."

BOSCH ACCUSES U. S. OF ILLEGAL SEIZURE

Magneto Inventor Supports Heins' Suit for $468,283

Washington, Aug. 28 (Universal).—That the United States Government, through A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian in the Wilson administration, unlawfully confiscated and sold the $16,000,000 Bosch Magneto stock, part owned, fully appropriate $468,283 in cash, is the purport of a deposition filed here in the District Supreme Court.

It is in a suit brought by Otto Heins, a friendly alien, who seeks to recover the $468,283.

The deposition, taken before an American consul at Stuttgart, Germany, is by Robert Bosch, inventor of the magneto and founder of the Bosch Company. Bosch swears he sold the patent to Heins before the war, and that at the time the property was seized, he owned only ten shares of stock in it. He denies the $468,283, taken by the alien property custodian formed any part of his interest.

250 HAVERHILL SHOE WORKERS ON STRIKE

Refuse to Bind Themselves to Three-Year Pact With Wage Reduction

Haverhill, Aug. 28.—Two hundred and fifty workers in the cut sole and of the shoe industry went on strike today, the first labor trouble since January.

At a mass meeting in Shoe Workers' Protective Union Hall last night they rejected the proposal of the manufacturers that all differences for the next three years be settled by arbitration.

The workers were unwilling to bind themselves to a three years' lease next without knowing what wages they were to receive for the next year.

The source of contention is a fifteen per cent. wage reduction and an increase of the hours of labor in each from five to five and a half days. This the workers turned down over a week ago.

Edward F. Decker, union agent of the cut sole workers, said today the manufacturers had started a lockout five days ago in anticipation of the failure to reach an agreement. The last of the locked out workers were laid off last week, according to Decker.

TEN MEN LOST ABOARD TWO SCHOONERS

Vessels Are Believed to Have Foundered in Calm Off Nova Scotia

Others, but the opinion here is that the crew was rescued.

The Chinese junk Shanghai, bound from Norway to New York, was driven upon White Point shoals, off Canso, but will be able to get off.

Other ships are overdue. The crew of one vessel was rescued off Canso as it was sinking.

Wave Washes Man Off Ship, Then Back Again

New York, Aug. 28.—Six more storm-hammered ships, additional victims of the Sunday-to-Tuesday hurricane which cut a great swath from the south to the north Atlantic, arrived today, bringing the number to twelve.

The Nordfarer, 2,500-ton Danish cargo boat, poked her pounded nose into quarantine first today. When just south of Cape Hatteras Monday night the vessel was almost crushed under the weight of the waters that rolled over her. The hurricane, in which a 120-mile an-hour wind kicked up waves 40 and 50 feet in height, caught the Nordfarer in its greatest fury.

A wave struck her bow on and washed away the bridge, carrying Captain M. J. Madsen with it.

Close behind the Nordfarer, the San Pablo from Trio, Honduras, made her entry. Fifty forty-eight hours this little cargo boat was swept with by the hurricane, and she suffered the loss of her lifeboats and all the loose articles that had been on her decks.

Next came the British steamer Indian Prince from Santos, Brazil. She was overtaken by the storm 500 miles south of Hatteras. She was overtaken by the storm 300 miles south of Hatteras. Her crew said one of their number had been swept from the decks by a titanic wave, which washed him aboard again when the wind veered and hurled the water back. The steamer's decks and upper works were badly damaged.

In quick succession there followed fotet quarantine the San Jose, from West Indian ports, the Corsican Prince, out of Buenos Aires, and the Commodore Rollins, from Kingston, Jamaica.

The San Jose played in luck, feeling only the waning strength of the hurricane for two and a half hours.

The Corsican Prince suffered a bit more damage, although she also got mixed with the tail of the storm. The Rollins got but minor injuries, as she just skirted the storm's edge.

In strange contrast, the Fort Victoria came into port as the seventh arrival, making a jaunty entry, her officers reporting an excellent trip from Bermuda. The Fort Victoria just nosed the edge of the hurricane belt.

Eight of Crew Hurt on Disabled Liner

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 28.—The Steamer Moorish Princess of the Furness Line, out of New York, was making its way to Jacksonville after being battered by the Atlantic coast storm Monday.

A wireless station here received a message addressed to the owners in New York which said that the ship had encountered a heavy hurricane and was returning to Jacksonville. Eight members of the crew were injured, the message said, four seriously.

BRITISH FLYER WAITS TO GREET U. S. AIRMEN

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 28.—Major F. Stuart MacLaren, British world flier, left here with his two companions for Eastern Canada and the United States. "When I shall sail for England depends on when the United States airmen reach this continent on the last lap of their flight. More than anything else, I want to meet them and congratulate them," he said.

Easton, Md., Aug 28 (I.N.S.).—J. Franklin ("Home run") Baker, hero of World's Series clashes in the past when he was a member of the old Philadelphia Athletics, silenced threats of lynching, when he captured a negro charged with attacking Mrs. Norman Baker, the former baseball king's sister-in-law. Carroll Gibson, the negro, is in jail in Easton. He was captured by Baker as one member of a posse of 100 citizens.

A total of 1,622 bottles of beer, two kegs of beer, a barrel of mash, complete distillery, 30 feet of one-half inch rubber tubing and a big gas plate, were carted away.

Fleeing Rum Suspect Surrenders When His Imagination Gets Into Action

John S. Martin of No. 24 Duvall street, New Bedford, was driving a truck near Matfuxon square today, when a coming car containing Prohibition Agent Clarence Clark pulled alongside.

Clark ordered Martin to stop, but the latter stepped on the gas and sped on his way toward Boston. The prohibition agent pursued, and just as he was overhauling the truck, one of his tires blew out with a loud report.

Martin, thinking it was a pistol shot, jammed on his brakes and brought the truck to a shuddering stop. Then he surrendered. He was taken to the Matfuxon police station together with his truck, said to contain fifty cases of alcohol.

the large insurance companies, are soon unable to find any trace of the persons involved to be one of the cleverest bands in the world.

Among the loot in the Crossett estate was a diamond necklace valued at $40,000 and a pearl necklace that Tiffany was ten years in matching up.

Several minor jewel robberies have been reported from the North Shore, but so far the larger bands seem all have made along the South Shore and the Cape. The Mason cigarette plate and local police are co-operating with the private detectives.

The Crossett gems, it is understood, were insured by Lloyds.

GUARDED DAY AND NIGHT.

Other wealthy residents of Massachusetts' coast resorts, fearing that the thieves will continue their operations, have employed private guards and many of the grounds are patrolled by heavily armed men from sunset till daybreak.

Daylight guards also are maintained at many of the estate as the observance of the band of crooks is not understood.

PSYCHIC CLASH

information until the committee has finished its investigation."

The Boston American learned today from a person present at the most recent sittings of Mrs. Crandon and the committee that members of the committee had severally caused the auditor of fraud when one or more of the investigators had seen phenomena not disclosed at the time to the others.

The dissension of the investigators and the resignation of Dr. Bird come as a climax of a dramatic, but realistic attempt, fostered by leading scientists and promoted by the Scientific American to prove once and for all or get at naught the reputed spirit communication declared to exist between the material world and an unknown spiritual plane.

AFTER LONG SEARCH.

The investigating committee, headed by Dr. Bird, trailed through Europe, measuring the phenomena of mediums produced by Sir Oliver Lodge and others in the light of laboratory science.

The search appeared to end at the home of Mrs. Crandon in Boston, when the wife of the surgeon, known only as "Margery," produced the most astonishing phenomena yet recorded and under conditions which the committee believed to be fraud-proof.

So leading were the results of sittings with "Margery," that all odds pointed to the award of $2,500, promised by the Scientific American, to Mrs. Crandon. "Margery" at no time invited publicity and received no monetary reward for her efforts.

Besides demonstrations of an unusual nature, a live pigeon is said to have been drawn through the walls of the house by psychic pressure. Mrs. Crandon's "control" has been a deceased brother, Walter, designated by the investigators as "Chester."

ACCUSED BY HOUDINI.

Harry Houdini, the magician, a member of the Scientific American Investigating Committee, openly accused Dr. Bird of fraud and refused to attend a sitting if Dr. Bird was present.

Mrs. Crandon admitted to the American today that this had occurred and had precipitated the resignation of Dr. Bird as secretary.

Houdini is also known to have objected to the publicity accorded Mrs. Crandon when newspapers learned that she was the mysterious "Margery" whose psychic demonstration had so impressed the committee.

Houdini's insistence upon the use of his lock-click oaken box as a cabinet for Mrs. Crandon's demonstration also annoyed members of the committee who did not favor their endorsement upon this means of proving the genuineness of Margery's phenomena.

"Dr. Bird could hardly retain his self-respect as a gentleman and permit Houdini to accuse him of fraud," declared Mrs. Crandon.

"There is an intensely interesting situation behind this dissension of the committee and it will eventually come out. However, the disagreement affects me in no way.

"My chances for being awarded the prize money are still as good as ever, I am assured. If I should get it, I shall not accept it, but will contribute it to further investigation purposes."

2 BOYS IN BOAT DRIVEN TO SEA BY GALE

Cohasset Lads Are Saved by Crew of the Boston Lightship

Two Cohasset boys, Stillman Nawn and Louis James, were at home today recovering from the harrowing experience of being blown out to sea in a small boat. They were rescued by the crew of the Boston lightship, on which they spent the night. Today the lifesaving crew of the Cohasset Mumma Society brought them home.

Stillman, who is thirteen years old, and Louis, fourteen, set forth yesterday at 2 o'clock in a small sailboat.

When they left Cohasset harbor a strong westerly wind drove their small craft along at a smart clip. It was not until they attempted to come about and beat back that they experienced difficulties.

The boat refused to point, and in order to prevent it from capsizing the boys were forced to run before the wind. For some hours they struggled, trying again and again to come about, but being steadily carried out to sea.

They were being swept by the lightship when the crew spied them and putting out in a boat took the two boys off. Young Nawn was exhausted.

WOMAN OWNS UP TO BEING GEM THIEF

New York, Aug. 28.—In the arrest early today of two men and a woman charged with the robbery of Alexander Feldenheimer of $100,000 worth of uncut diamonds on Aug. 22, the police and private detectives representing Lloyd's of London believe they have taken the first step in the disorganization of a clever band of gem thieves, and the clearing up of robberies involving millions of dollars worth of jewels.

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy Burns, twenty-two years old, turned over to the police $4,750, which she said was the remainder of the money obtained from the sale of the diamonds. The other prisoners, James J. Burns, a chauffeur, and the woman's husband, and Harry Chance, both twenty years old, denied many connection with the case.

The woman, who told police she is known on the stage as Dorothy Dale, and whose proper name is Dorothy Frost Burns, was declared by authorities to be the forerunner of a clean-up in investigations into jewel robberies running into $15,000,000.

According to her captors, Mrs. Burns is one of the most beautiful prisoners ever to fall into their hands. They said she wrote a confession on a piece of paper in which she declared she acted as look-out when her husband, Burns, and Chance, entered the Malden Lane jewelry establishment of Feldenheimer and a customer, Mark Wain, and fled with $100,000 in uncut diamonds.

EX-POLICEMAN STOPS RUNAWAY; DRIVER HURT

Pedestrians in Tremont street, near Lenox street, were saved from injury today, when Erochin Goldberg, a former Boston police officer, stopped a runaway horse owned by H. H. Hood & Sons, milk company.

The horse became frightened when a wheel on the milk wagon collapsed. The driver, M. W. Jeffrey, tried to save himself by jumping, but his foot caught in the reins, and he was dragged 50 feet and severely bruised. Goldberg jumped from his automobile, and succeeded in stopping the horse.

TWILIGHT BRIDE ANSWERED BY HUSBAND

Sight-Seeing Car Announcer Asks Court to Annul His Marriage

Max Goodman, twenty-one-year-old Boston University student is a wizard at picking out points of interest in Boston on which to lecture to patrons of a "rubber-neck" bus on which he is employed, but he admits he is a rank failure at picking out a bride.

In fact, Max insists that the "twilight" bride, formerly a Baltimore school teacher, did all the picking herself. Married only five weeks, Max wants the court to annul his marriage and restore him to a status where he can devote all his time to the "rubber-neck" lectures and his studies at the Boston University.

Adele Goodman, the picking herself.

The bride, formerly Miss Adele D. Landis, nineteen years old, of Baltimore, has entered suit against Goodman's mother for $100,000 for alienation of her son's affections and the annulment suit of the bridegroom, filed in the Probate Court, is his answer.

When the bride instituted her suit some days ago it developed that she was a bride during the early hours of the evening, only Max spent his days on the "rubber-neck" wagon, then called on his wife about the time the ploughman homeward plods his weary way. After a few hours polite conversation, Max would back out of his wife's presence and hustle off to his mother's home at No. 16 Eaton street, West End, to spend the rest of the night.

Now Max claims that his wife, while visiting friends in Lynn, went off by herself and got the marriage license. He avers that she gave his name as "Martin M. Goodman" when his name is plain Max, and he further insists that she gave his address as No. 77 Hamilton street, Lynn, while the bridegroom maintains he never lived in Lynn to his life.

Further, the lecturers says no intentions of his marriage were filed in Boston, his home, while the five-day intention law was not lived up to. Therefore, Max asks the court for relief from his present status with the determined young lady from South of the Mason-Dixon line.

MOTHER OF DR. THIERY OPPOSED AS EXECUTOR

The almost unprecedented situation of a District-Attorney appearing in his official capacity in a probate court to oppose a civil action is developing in the Thiery murder case.

Mrs. Martha E. Thiery, mother of Dr. Raymond E. Thiery, Somerville physician accused of murdering his brother-in-law, David M. Noble, is to petition Middlesex Probate Court to be appointed guardian of the four-year-old daughter of the slain man. The District-Attorney's office is to oppose the appointment of Mrs. Thiery.

When Noble was slain he left an estate valued at between $25,000 and $30,000. The daughter is the sole heir. No will that was executed following the death of Noble's wife has come to light.

Gloucester Minister's Daughter Steps from Convent to Chorus

A minister's daughter on the stage is not unusual.

A minister's daughter who dances in musical comedy with the sanction of her parents is unique, however.

Add to this the fact that said daughter was educated in a French convent, learned classical dancing at the Russian Imperial Ballet School in Paris and was enrolled at the Conservatoire, and you have something to talk about.

Such a person is Janet Lee, dark-eyed little dancer, now in Boston.

Miss Lee reads, writes and speaks French, Spanish and Russian, and was chaperoned at gay balls in Paris by Madame Poincare, wife of the French ex-President.

Janet Lee is a member of a prominent New England family which has made its name known not only in this country but abroad. Her father, the Rev. John Clarence Lee, D. D., LL. D., Ph. D., is pastor of the historic Independent Christ Church in Gloucester, the oldest Universalist Church in the United States.

WOMAN WEAK DIZZY, FAINT
Found Relief in Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Always Recommends It.

Bridgeport, Connecticut.—"I was completely run-down, had headaches, dizzy, faint feelings and other troubles women often have. As I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before, my husband said to take it again. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, also the Liver Pills, and six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I also am using your wash and continue taking them for a while. I have been telling my cousin about the medicine she wants to take it, too. I always recommend it."—Mrs. HENRY C. SMITH, R. F. D. No. 4, Box 6, Bridgeport, Conn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a good medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Smith's experience is but one of many.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 11,000 replies were received, and 26 per cent. reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

FAY KING'S IMPRESSIONS OF PHOTO PLAY AT SYMPHONY HALL

By FAY KING

Frank Lloyd's intensely interesting picture, "The Sea Hawk," is one of those pictures you will have no trouble coaxing the men folks to go see.

It is full of romance, adventure and melodramatic action that everybody likes awfully well, but that men will like particularly much!

It is taken from Sabatini's famous novel, and, I understand, follows the book more closely than most movies do.

The romance and amazing adventures follow in breakneck speed, and one sits there wondering what will happen next, and quite breathless until it does.

The story starts in England and we find Sir Oliver Tresellian very much in love with the beautiful Rosamund Godolphin. Lionel, Sir Oliver's half-brother, kills Peter Godolphin, Rosamund's brother, and circumstantial evidence points very clearly to Sir Oliver. Even Rosamund believes him guilty.

His half-brother, cringing in cowardly fear that Oliver may divulge that he (Lionel) is guilty, schemes with Jasper Leigh, a fierce looking freebooter and pirate, to take Sir Oliver captive. Lionel send Sir Oliver upon a false message from Rosamund, and our handsome, hopeful hero is waylaid, captured and taken to sea.

From an abused galley slave to a powerful chef in shiekish garb until at last the fate of this fiction brings Rosamund to him again and he buys her for a private slave in the Moorish slave market!

One cannot even begin to describe or even outline "The Sea Hawk." It must be seen to be enjoyed. Its many reels are filled with the sort of adventures that take one far away from the routine of ordinary life!

The sea scenes with old-fashioned galleons in battle are truly remarkable, to be so excellently reproduced in this day and age of fast oil burners. To see how those huge boats were propelled by man powered oars, assisted by sails when the wind was favorable, is alone worth a trip to "The Sea Hawk," but there's oodles beside this to hold your attention and interest every minute!

Milton Sills, as Sir Oliver, later known as Sakr-er-Bahr, does the finest work of his career and is the kind of a steel-muscled shiek the men will admire as well as the women!

Wallace Beery, as Jasper Leigh, the fierce-faced pirate who later becomes a loyal servant, plays his part to perfection!

The cast is a large one and contains many prominent names. Enid Bennett is the lovely Rosamund!

KENNEL NEWS FOR READERS OF AMERICAN

The Boston American is going to run a Kennel column each Thursday from now on.

It will be lively, breezy and vigorous. Bench shows will be reported in detail. There will be plenty of dog stories, interesting and instructive.

From time to time, the origin and history of the most popular breeds of dogs will be given. You will be told about the different kennels throughout New England—the story of where the thoroughbreds come from and how the bulldog acquired his hideous design away back in old Spain whenh bullbaiting was a happy pastime.

SEND IN DOG STORIES.

You will be told that the graceful Russian wolf-hound is no lady's dog at home on the frozen plains of Siberia, but was used by grand dukes to catch timber wolves alive.

Dog lovers send in your best dog stories, whether they are about that good old collie, that knows as well how to handle the cows or sheep, or about the wire-haired pup that understands everything. Other folks want to hear these stories.

Also—interesting dog pictures—please send them in so that all may enjoy them—the unusual kind is what we prefer.

TELL YOUR TROUBLES.

If your dog isn't doing as well as you think he should; if you're in doubt about what is best to feed him; if you have difficulty in training him, write in, tell us your troubles.

If any of you contemplate purchasing a dog and do not know where to look, or if you're in doubt about finding a responsible breeder, we will be glad to guide you.

HONESTY WINS BOY THIEF PROBATION

Worcester, Aug. 28. — Honesty brought reward for Bernard D. DeSilsla, eighteen-year-old Worcester boy, in Superior Criminal Court before Chief Justice Walter P. Hall. For telling the whole story of his abbreviated court record he was placed on probation while his companion, Francis Lariviee, twenty years old of Worcester, was sentenced to eighteen months in the House of Correction.

The boys pleaded guilty to stealing a $400 automobile from John J. Harney in Worcester. No record could be found against DeSilsla but he volunteered the information that he had been found guilty of breaking and entering a year ago in Webster and had been placed on probation.

Many writers send learned comment.

HYMAN BONNER, of Passaic, New Jersey, says, "you couldn't wait to get information from Moses in Heaven. He kept the children of Israel in the desert for forty years, because they were not qualified to conquer the Promised Land. They practically ruined the new generation, educated and drilled, led by Moslms, into their Promised Land by fighting."

MAX HIRSCH, of Long Island City, writes, said that Moses had to let his old followers die off while he raised a new generation. "You know nothing about Egypt. You prepared them for their task."

Can anybody give more exact information about the figaltar Dealer, Muslms?

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, who puts things "differently," says "American films are lacking in MORALITY, not immorality." He says, "the movie has supplanted the old-fashioned tract and Sunday school prize."

Shaw's article in the Portsmouth Review criticizing and instructing American movie producers, announces that Shaw may consider writing scenarios himself. "But it's rather like asking a Titian to paint portraits in black and white," says he.

As a matter of fact, before Titian died of the plague at ninety, with eyesight failing, and color sense waning, he did produce pictures in "black and white"—and good ones.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner.

A WOMAN called on me one time, I confess this not at once. I asked her if she had been ill long. "Oh, no," was her reply. "I have been very well. I have been taking a course in diet and nutrition, reducing myself, but lately I began to feel that I have been overtraining."

Further investigation revealed the fact that this splendid woman, who might have remained in perfect health up to a ripe old age, had, as the result of her foolish reduction of weight below her normal standard, brought on a most serious diabetes—or at least, had so far lowered her vitality that she had no reserves with which to combat the fatal infection that she was overlooking and that had really caused her disease.

I mention this case because it is a very striking illustration of the extremes to which some people will go—and there are the more exempted from the evil than are women—in slavish compliance to the dictates of fashion until they fall below their normal standards.

It is that idea of "normal standard" that is to be kept in mind.

You are formed with a certain balance between the various "systems" that make up your whole system.

This balance determines the amount of fat-making process that goes on within you and that results in the deposit of fat under your skin.

When this deposit is not excessive and, consequently, not burdensome, it is one of your chief blessings, and stands you well in hand as a safeguard against the disastrous consequences of many serious illnesses.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Every year about this time I get a severe cold and sometimes it leads away into the Winter. How can I avoid this?

MISS E. S. C., Dorchester.

I would suggest that you have a thorough physical examination by your family physician to determine whether or not you have any defects in your breathing, as repeated nose, throat and tonsil, enlarged tonsils, deviated septum, etc., which may need treatment. Breathing dusty air, and poor ventilation are the causes of many colds. Care should be taken of the mouth, nose, throat and tonsils. Exposure to cold and wet, lack of sleep, overwork and improper food are all predisposing causes that depress vitality and invite the infection.

I have palpitation of the heart upon the slightest exertion in the way of any violent action. Do you suppose this is serious? R. H. P., Providence.

I would advise you to go to one of your local hospitals and have a thorough physical examination as the heart clinic.

FINANCE

—By George Wheeler Hinman—

"May loan Europe half a billion" is the headline over a New York dispatch in Wednesday's newspapers.

"In the opinion of Wall Street bankers," says the dispatch, "the placing of the Dawes loan will involve export of American cotton and credits to the countries directly concerned to the amount of $500,000,000." France and Belgium are named as two of the countries that want still more of our money.

Of course, it is entirely wrong to say that such national loans as those to be sought by France and Belgium are part of the Dawes plan. That is, unless having once opened our pockets to float the Dawes plan we are expected to hold them open until every last cent needed in Europe has taken out all it needs. As yet, this sort of business hangup is not the order of the day.

Russia wants our money. That is why she desires official recognition. Italy wants our money. Poland already is window dressing her affairs in New York for the purpose of some future loan. Both Germany of course is always waiting at the window, and Roumania and her neighbors are looking for our loans almost every week.

If the famous $4,000,000,000 of gold in this country were suddenly to be assembled in one bank, more than to be made available for the loans now desired from us, and were to be apportioned out among the greedy applicants in their order, that vast sum would melt away until the cross of the bank, and southeastern Europe would still be standing in line, but our pockets empty.

It is for these reasons that one reads in the foreign newspapers about the billions eventually to come from America. In this country new news is not broken so roughly. As the New York dispatch indicates, the sum mentioned to American investors is only half a billion. Occasionally a billion has been named. In London, however, $1,000,000,000 is suggested. In France, Belgium, Russia and the rest, it is worse than that. The sky is the only limit of what is hoped for from us.

What then is the protection for the American people who may put their money in some of these bonds? That is a question that comes to the writer's desk almost daily. What for example is the actual guarantee of the coming German loan, in case of war, revolution, change of government and so on? In the real sense, there is none.

England won't guarantee the loan, although her trade interests in the resurrection of Germany are the largest. France won't guarantee the loan, although her stake in the operations is to be the biggest. Italy won't guarantee the loan and Belgium won't guarantee it. Still they both expect to benefit from it in trade and in reparation payments. Finally the United States will not guarantee it.

The President endorses the loan and speaks for it. He even recommends that we go further with the endless program of loans that the politicians of Europe have laid out for us. But—here is the point—the President guarantees nothing.

What then will be the position of the American who buys any of these European bonds on the President's recommendation? Will he be a guaranteed creditor in case of war, revolution, dismemberment of the debtor country? He will not. From Washington he will get nothing—not even a cold potato. President Coolidge and his associates probably will be gone, or if still there they will follow State Department custom and do nothing.

Of course, if we get deep enough in the mire of European bonds, we may then have foreign bond committees. The man with the default bonds could then join a committee and pass resolutions. That is what the British holders of Russian bonds and Turkish bonds are doing today in London. But there is no money to be got in this way.

So the speculator in the highly recommended bonds must also wade to deluge us, would have no more real guarantee in case of default than if he had put his money in a common stock in Wall street.

SANTRY LOOKS FOR BIG POWER EXPANSION

By FRANK R. MELOON

Financial Editor

Joseph W. Santry, formerly of Boston, now vice-president of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation, tells me:

"The expansion in electric power use throughout the world during the next ten years will be the outstanding feature of industrial progress."

"A survey of the power situation in the eleven northeastern States shows that in 1922 there was produced in these states approximately one hundred and forty-seven million kilowatt hours of electrical energy. At an estimated future demand not including possible electrification of railways will bring the total electrical demand in 1930 up to thirty billion, eight hundred million kilowatt hours. Only 25 per cent. of the total power demand of 1922 per year can be met from water power development.

"Personal dependence then must be placed upon the generation of power from coal.

"In Europe the situation is especially interesting. International Commission engineers who have visited France, Belgium, Germany, Austria and Switzerland inspecting power plants, in the last few weeks state that foreign governments' bonds old and unable to furnish the power demanded of them. Electric power companies abroad are trying to catch up with their losses in construction which were suffered during the war, but they are a long way behind.

"Quite recently a number of English, French and German engineers have been making a tour of inspection covering the latest and largest power plants in the United States with a view of introducing American ideas and methods in the reconstruction of their foreign plants."

"I am firmly convinced," said a prominent broker, "that U. S. Steel will find it advantageous to make some sort of split-up in regard to its stock ownership. The stock was split in the last Congress there were demands for a tax on corporation surpluses. In the next Congress, particularly in the Senate, there will be more radicals, and they will demand the inauguration of such a tax on surplus. For this reason there may be some developments within the next six months. The steel corporation's huge surplus of a half billion dollars is a bright object for these radicals."

Kennecott Copper Corporation, directors tell me, is likely to call the outstanding bonds totaling $15,000,000. Kennecott ten-year 7s are due February 1, 1930, and are quoted on the New York Curb Market around 106. They are redeemable at 108 and interest plus a premium of 3 per cent. for each year or part of year from date of redemption to maturity. They were offered originally by a J. P. Morgan syndicate at 99¾ and interest.

TREASURY'S TURNOVER TO BE NEAR BILLION

It is likely that the Treasury's operations in the money market in September-October will approximate $1,000,000,000.

Series B notes maturing September 15, 1924, total about $377,000,000. There will also be due semi-annual interest on approximately $2,397,000,000 4½ per cent. Third Liberty bonds, totaling $68,800,000. In addition semi-annual interest will be payable on about 1,050,000,000 Treasury notes, aggregating $65,000,000.

It is estimated that the government will then offer about $300,000,000 in new paper within the next two weeks. The government also will receive the third quarterly installment on account of 1922 taxes, which should approximate four $250,000,000.

ISLAND CREEK SETS RECORD

Island Creek Coal in July earned approximately $150,000. This was after reserves for Federal taxes, depreciation and plant, mine development and depletion. After setting aside 25,000 representing one month's dividend requirements on 50,000 shares of preferred stock, remaining profits were equivalent to $1.05 per share on the 118,803 shares of common.

This is the rate of $3.15 a share for third quarter of year against current dividends of $2 regular and $1 extra. Production in July amounted to 455,000 tons, the largest month in the history of the property.

In the current month, due to desire of many of the miners who have been making handsome wages to get in a few vacation days, production will probably fall behind July. These two months, however, will still total better than any previous sixty-day period.

Island Creek common continues to creep into high ground. It has just sold at 42¾, the highest price on record and an advance of $5.50 this week. Only last April the stock sold at 94½.

Showing earnings at the rate of over $3 a share in the current quarter with coal conditions relatively poor, yet with net profits in the first seven months of $1.05 per share already reported, directors are expected to continue extra quarterly dividend of $1 when they meet September 17.

STEEL LEADS PIVOTAL ISSUES HIGHER

In trading on the New York Stock Exchange General Baking rose 2 points and Rutland preferred 4½.

U. S. Steel sold at 103¾, equivalent to 110 before deducting the dividend, leading the upward movement in other pivotal issues such as American Can, Baldwin, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Du Pont. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Encouraging reports of mercantile expansion proposed unusual activity in this group, but business elsewhere was restricted, due to the approach of a holiday.

Sales in the first hour totalled only about 135,000 shares. An increase in freight car loadings to the largest aggregate of the present year was taken as further evidence of an Autumn trade revival, to which the merchandise issues responded.

Gains of 2 to almost 8 points were recorded by International Shoe, Woolworth, McCrory Stores "B," Kayser Silk preferred and Consolidated Cigar.

Wilson Issues Continue Recovery in Bond Market

With activity restricted by the approaching holiday, trading in New York was marked by narrow price fluctuations. Wilson conversion issues continued their recovery with gains of 1 and 1¾ points.

Mixed price movements prevailed in the railroad group, an advance of a point in St. Paul 4s of 1925 contrasting with the heaviness of the road's debenture 4s and convertible 5s.

Norfolk & Western convertible 4s and Colorado & Southern 4s displayed moderate improvement. Foreign obligations marked time.

NEW HAVEN HAS GOOD OUTLOOK FOR YEAR

New Haven Railroad continues to earn a fair margin above fixed charges from month to month even though gross earnings have been running considerably under those of 1923. May, June and July were months of somewhat indifferent revenue owing to reduced volume of business, but all showed a balance after charges.

Last month the falling off in gross as compared with a year ago was less marked than in the months immediately preceding. This is due not so much to any striking improvement this year as to the fact that July, 1923, was not a heavy month from a traffic standpoint. The decrease in gross in July compared with last year was but 6.2 per cent. whereas in June it was 11.4 per cent. and in May 12.2 per cent.

Reductions have been made in operating expenses and equipment rentals in July so that net operating income was only $736,134 less than in July, 1923, a decrease of 15.1 per cent. Income from investments was considerably larger than a year ago, the final result being a surplus after charges of $48,328 against a surplus of $124,728 in July, 1923.

The following shows final results by months for the first seven months of 1924 in comparison with the corresponding period of 1923:

	Surplus after charges
	1924	1923
January	$820,115	$82,700
February	314,264	1,032,932
March	535,743	1,475,072
April	440,744	887,700
May	60,223	50,700
June	48,328	124,728
July	521,842	1,394,056
7 months	$2,741,259	$5,047,888

A surplus after charges of $521,842 for the seven months ended July 31 against a deficit in 1924-01 in the corresponding period of last year, in spite of a decline of $4,227,775, or 5.4 per cent. in gross revenues from transportation is results effected by reduction in operating expenses and equipment hire charges.

In the last five months of 1923, which showed a good recuperation in business, the following are gross revenues results of the earlier months of the year reflecting effects of the coal strike and floods, new Haven enjoyed a surplus after charges of approximately $1,377,000, or an average of $275,000 a month.

If it does only as well as that in the remainder of this year, it would show a balance for the twelve months of over $1,800,000, or $1.20 per share on $157,117,900 stock. With business improvement, the prospect of such an expectation is conservative. This would constitute the first surplus that has been earned by New Haven in any years since 1917. In 1923 the deficit was $2,937,106; in 1920 obligations marked time.

COPPER SHARES ARE LAGGARDS IN MARKET

Copper shares, as everyone knows, have been recently lagging behind the rest of the market. But just how far behind are they? The industrial group as a whole have been compared to within $1.37 of the March, 1923, highs and to 8.6 cents over their September, 1923, lows. On the other hand, something to a compilation made by one firm, the copper securities, while advancing 56.75 over their last June lows, are still approximately $10 below their March, 1923, highs and $6.95 below their 1919 highs. The present average price of $29.42 for twenty representative coppers, compares with $72.12, the high price recorded during war conditions, and 211.68, the October 1923 low price.

Government Regulation of Prices!

Should not the public be protected against extortionate prices for food products?

Should not the farmer be protected also against shamefully and distressingly low prices that sometimes prevail because of good crops, poor money circulation, extortionate middlemen and gambler profits?

Is not the food supply, THE BREAD, of the people of the world more important than the profits of speculators?

Is not a fair price to the farmer EVERY YEAR more important than an exceptional price in one year, when perhaps he hasn't GOT the wheat?

The man who gets an ounce of gold out of the ground can take it to the government mint and get the full price for it. The government doesn't reduce the price because gold is discovered in Alaska. And the man can't get more for his gold even in wartime, when other nations are yelling for gold.

An ounce of gold is AN OUNCE OF GOLD this year, last year, and next year.

Is an ounce of gold any better than so many bushels of wheat?

Would it be terrific anarchy, socialism, paternalism and other "isms" to suggest that the farmer who raises a bushel of wheat renders a public service, and should feel absolutely sure that for his bushel of wheat he can get the fair price this year, next year, and every year?

What the country wants is stability, CERTAINTY.

Give the farmer his full price in the big crop year, and he will be content with that full price in the weaker years, if he is really a farmer and not one who needs the gambling element in addition to the fascination of production.

The great question of regulating prices of necessities will be solved. The price of gasoline, needed by the entire nation, will not be left to the whims and specializations of manipulators and monopolizers; the same is true of wheat and corn, and many other products.

$6,300,000 in Labor Bank

Labor COULD Control Banking

The other day Mr. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank, biggest in the United States, spoke encouragingly of various efforts to establish labor banks, controlled by working people, to receive the savings of working people.

He predicted success and useful careers for such banking institutions.

The report of the Federation Bank of New York confirms Mr. Mitchell's prediction, showing as it does resources of $6,300,000.

Mr. Brady, the president of the Federation Bank, says his bank aims at $100,000,000 resources, and there is little doubt that the mark will soon be passed.

According to Mr. Brady, the fact that the government has ceased issuing saving certificates because it can get money more cheaply has increased the Labor Bank deposits.

Quite apart from that, there is no reason why banks run by intelligently selected leaders of labor should not be among the most powerful institutions in the country.

If working people would concentrate on saving and patronize their labor banks as they should do, not ten millions, but a hundred millions and more might well be the resources of some great financial labor institution.

Ten million workmen earning only $5 a day, which is below the average, receive and turn over FIFTEEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS IN A YEAR.

What would be the power of an institution in which the maximum savings of such an income were deposited? It would make other financial institutions look like little country banks.

Various Things

With one Merit, They're Short

You read about the brave Horatius, dressed in all his armor, plunging into the swollen Tiber, gaining the shore in safety. Everybody is pleased with that. Then you read about Robert Henry, a convict, his wrists shackled, jumping through a glass window from a swiftly moving train, regaining his feet and escaping in the woods. Everybody is sorry he escaped. Everything depends on the MOTIVE.

What is the exact difference in the physical courage of Horatius and Robert Henry? What change would it have made in Robert Henry's life, with his energy and daring, if he had a chance?

Mary Borden, wife of a member of the British Parliament and a novel writer, says that Englishmen make the best husbands, also that they are the best dressed. That may well be. Everything comes by practice, and there are many fortunate Britons that have nothing to do except make good husbands and dress carefully.

The same lady, disappointed in the Labor government, says that Ramsay MacDonald, the workman Premier, has worn his court knee breeches more in his short term of office than Lloyd George did in all his many years of public service. What of it?

It costs more than six million dollars every year to supply paper money, replacing wornout bills. The government would like to encourage silver mining by minting silver dollars, but the people, to whom a dollar doesn't mean as much as it USED to, don't want to carry the weight. The suggestion is that "light metal tokens," very light, but each one representing full value in silver stored away, should be circulated.

Dollar tokens as small as silver dimes wouldn't be bad, if counterfeiting could be controlled. The dollar-a-day man has changed to at least a four-dollar-a-day man, and the "cart-wheel" days are gone.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

"ONCE you get rid of that mop of hair," they told me, "it will be the end of all your troubles and worries and problems."

* * *

And it IS! The wrong ends.

* * *

And the beginning of a brand NEW set—like false teeth or matinee.

Helen Rowland

After the bobbing comes the deluge of doubt—the morning question and evening argument as to whether or to let it grow out again or to keep on cutting it.

* * *

The question of whether it really "makes you look ten years younger"—or only makes you look like an old girl TRYING to look ten years younger.

* * *

Of whether it is really cooler or a lot hotter over your ears.

Of just how much bunk there is in the theory that it is easier to manage and less trouble to keep curled than long hair.

* * *

Of whether men honestly and truly admire the curly, "snappy" boyish type of woman—or still yearn secretly after Madonnas and Godivas and long-haired sirens.

Of whether your friends are laughing or merely trying to be comforting when they gulp that way and say, "Oh, yes—mmm—I like it!"

Of what to do with the half-dozen imported hats you bought just before you "bobbed."

* * *

Of whether you have won HIS respect—or shattered all HIS beautiful illusions—forever.

Of whether it is really more important to look younger—or to look sweet and feminine and to preserve your "personality."

* * *

Of whether Eve and Delilah and Medusa and Salome could have gotten away with so much if they had been shorn of woman's crowning torment.

* * *

Of how you will EVER manage to look "interesting" in widow's weeds.

* * *

Of WHEN to have it trimmed, HOW to have it cut, WHETHER to have it curled, and WHAT on earth to do with it—now that you've got it.

* * *

Oh, yes; bobbing your hair is like marriage!

* * *

You are never happy until you try it—and then you are eternally wondering why you did it.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

OH, Little Girl of Long Ago, when fair, oh, Little Girl I used to know with tender eyes and shining hair, it cannot be that you forget the hillside where you used to play, where white and purple violet made a carpet'all the sunny day. There fancies gay were woven through the merry games you loved so well and woven with your daydreams, too, were visions fair as fairy's spell. Oh, Little Girl of Long Ago, grown strangely cold and hard today, what can the busy world men know have done to take your dreams away? Tell me, is there no secret key to open doors that backward swing into the land that used to be a-blossom with unending spring, is there no way to find at noon the freshness of the morning dew, the joy that vanished all too soon, with skies that were forever blue? Alas, the price that all must pay, for, ever as years glide along, Time takes some loveliness away, some gift of laughter or of song. But in their place he leaves we know, a truth to still each passing pain; oh, Little Girl of Long Ago, somewhere the spring will bloom again!

At Her Wit's End

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if some kind reader has clothes to fit my boys, 12 and 7, and girls 13, 10, 9, 5, and a baby 1 year old. Their father has been out of work since last November, and the children have been sick much of the time. With the opening of school drawing near and no clothes for the children, I don't know what to do. Won't some one please help me.

No Shoes to Wear

Helping Hand Editor:

I am the mother of six small children and they are very much in need of clothes. I, myself, have no shoes to wear. My husband has had no work for a long time, and so is unable to buy us clothes. Will some one please give us a little help. I have three girls, 8, 10 and 12 years old; and three boys, 12, 14 and 16 years. I wear size 44 dress and size 4 shoes. I will be grateful for any help whatever.

Girls Need Bloomers

Helping Hand Editor:

I should very much like some bloomers and dresses for my little girls, size 9 and 12. My girl 16 needs a dress and coat. If I could get these things I should be very thankful as the children need them to go to school next week.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

He who does not forbid sin, when he can, encourages it.

* * *

True friendship between man and man is infinite and immortal.

* * *

If a book come from the heart, it will contrive to reach other hearts. All art and authorcraft are of small amount to that.

* * *

Righteous expresses of actions what straightness does of lines, and there can no more be two kinds of right action than there can be two kinds of straight line.

Ambition knows no rest.

Keep cool and you will command all situations.

* * *

That which comes from the heart will go to the heart.

Serve and you shall be served. If you love and serve men, you cannot by any hiding or stratagem, escape the remuneration.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON DOGS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I WAS sitting the other day at an outdoor restaurant and noticed a man near me who was showing his little dog to some children. Presently the dog darted out into the street where it was straightway run over by an automobile and killed. The man was in great distress. He picked up the remains of the animal, wrapped it in paper and carried it away. What had become of the dog? Its life had been suddenly extinguished. Is there a dog Heaven, or otherworld of any kind?

John Wesley used to think that the animals had a future life and it is certain that some savage tribes were convinced that their favorite dog would follow them to the Happy Hunting Grounds; but however we may settle this theological question, the fact remains that the dog, of all the animals upon earth, comes nearest to man.

That is to say, the dog, as Maeterlinck says, is the only animal that really loves a man. It is the only point of animal creation that seems to regard the human being affectionately.

There is a faithfulness, a loyalty and love, on the part of the dog that we do not find in any other animal. With this is combined an animality that is just as open and frank. Dogs will fight each other and they do not like cats, but the dog is the friend and companion of man.

However much we may reason out the harm that is done by dogs, the diseases they give us and the danger of being bitten by them, all this logic is swept away when our canine looks up at us with his large and expressive eyes and we behold his tail wagging in good fellowship.

As far as that is concerned the dog is the only animal that wags his tail as an expression of joy. The horse may wag his tail to keep off the flies, and the members of the cat family wag their tails when they are hungry or contemplate attack, but with a dog, tail-wagging is an expression of geniality of spirit.

The dog's affection for man is pure and undefiled. It makes no difference to him whether his man friend be a millionaire or pauper. He cares nothing for what we possess so that we possess enough to give him food once in a while.

The man is to him what their gods are to the heathen. He looks up to the man as a superior being and is happy only in his presence.

There are some who regard the dog as a coward, who loves man only because he cringes before him, but those who are familiar with dogs feel that this is not true but rather that their affection is sincere and their courage undoubted.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON TORNADOES

By Garrett P. Serviss,

THIS seems to be a "tornado year." Such years have generally occurred in series, coincident with a waning stage in the sun-spot period. Sun spots do not cause tornadoes, but their existence may show when the sun is in a state suitable for acting electromagnetically with unusual energy upon its attendant planets.

Electro-magnetic forces are not yet recognized as playing a major part in meteorology, but they may play it all the same. There are mysteries, i. e., unexplained phenomena connected with tornadoes which at least suggest an electrical origin. In sun spots enormous electrical forces appear to be in operation.

Gigantic Whirl

A tornado is a faint, almost microscopic, image of the gigantic whirl of a sun spot. A tornado is from a few rods to say half a mile in diameter; the black centre of a sun spot is as broad as the whole earth and is surrounded by millions of square miles of violent disturbances.

Still, it is not intended to draw a parallel between sun spots and tornadoes, but only to remark that while occurring, one may say, simultaneously with reference to certain critical states of the sun, they also exhibit striking, though superficial resemblances to one another. However, it must not be forgotten that the sun and the earth are widely different in physical condition as they are in appearance and in size—physical conditions, but not physical, or rather chemical, make-up—for the same elementary substances are in both, and it is not certain that either of them contains any element whatever that does not exist in some form in the other.

But when we compare their respective conditions we find that the earth is a solid ball, at least, upon the whole, as steel, while the sun, also a ball, though more than a million times larger, is composed of gas. Here again a difference of condition, or state, must be noted. When we say that the sun is a ball of gas 866,000 miles in diameter, and glowing more brilliantly than any light that we can make on the earth, the reader should not think of this gas that makes up the sun as resembling the gas in a balloon or in an auto motor.

In the first place, it consists of every sort of matter reduced to what we call the gaseous state by the enormous heat to which it is subjected. Except for certain elements, like hydrogen and oxygen, capable of existing in a gaseous state on the cool earth, nearly everything in the sun would turn into the solid state if it were cooled off.

On the other hand, everything that is solid on the earth would become gaseous if removed to the sun. No doubt there is enough iron in the sun kept in the state of gas by the tremendous heat to form a flock of solid iron planets each as large as the earth if cooled off to the terrestrial order of temperature.

Nearly Solid

And yet we should undoubtedly find the interior of the gaseous sun held by pressure in a state of rigidity having some resemblance to that of a solid.

In fact, it is very difficult to picture the state of the sun's interior owing to the conflict there between the enormous heat, driving the atoms and the constituents of the atoms asunder, and the enormous pressure holding all the particles together and opposing their movements. We cannot reproduce such a condition in laboratories, and can only represent its consequences ideally. All of our direct knowledge about the sun relates to its outer shell and what we may speak of as its atmosphere.

When we consider the vastness and the intensity of the sun's forces and its nearness to the earth as indicated by its great size in the sky and the openness of the space between us and it, which seems to offer an unobstructed way for its multitudinous forms of radiant energy to speed straight to the earth, we can hardly wonder if its convulsions produce a repercussion upon our planet in the shape of violent disturbances in the electrified atmosphere.

ONCE-OVERS

CONSIDERATION HOSTS AND GUESTS SHOULD SHOW EACH OTHER

The home that people like to visit is the one where no special effort seems to be made to entertain.

Guests occasionally have a few things that they would like to do quietly and by themselves in their rooms.

Often a quiet evening spent visiting with the family would be preferable to any other form of entertainment.

Everyone likes to have time to relax.

But there are some hostesses who do not realize this and wear out themselves and their guests with a constant fill after exciting ways to spend the time.

The guest who cannot absent herself for a while each day is a most trying guest.

In most homes there are duties which only the hostess can perform and she should be given an opportunity to do them more easily by herself.

Constant visiting with a guest is distracting and makes planning for the guest's comfort almost impossible.

This should be taken into consideration by those who visit their friends and a little consideration lessens the extra work and makes it more pleasant on both sides.
